V. Conclusion

It's very easy to see why women love Women's Care Center's "office" in Niles, MI. It's actually a very comfortable, organized, and attractive home. No doubt the women feel safe and secure in that environment. It's located in a nice part of town. Once again the staff was very accommodating, professional, organized, and helpful during our site monitoring. This site is a wonderful place for confidential, compassionate and free services to women experiencing unexpected pregnancies!

The following is one of many client success stories from this site:

Lilly and Dustin (not their real names) came into our center suspecting that she was pregnant. She had only been off of her birth control for less than a month and didn't believe that this could happen. Lilly and her boyfriend, Dustin, were very scared that they would not be able to afford a baby. They said that they were not ready for a child, and more importantly, she did not want to disappoint her mother. They intended to have an abortion, and then they found Women's Care Center by searching online. They came for a test, and to confirm she was pregnant, to learn about abortion procedures and risks and to date the pregnancy with an ultrasound.

Our counselor offered a warm, nonjudgmental environment for Lilly to share what she was going through and shared information on procedures and potential risks of abortion. The counselor walked with Lilly through different strategies that could make parenting a viable option. She recommended our classes and crib club store where she would have the opportunity to earn diapers, cribs, car seats, and other needed items. She also offered our goals counseling program and classes in order to help her prepare emotionally for a baby. The counselor then confirmed the pregnancy through a medical grade pregnancy test. This left Lilly feeling supported, but still uncertain about whether she would choose to parent or not.

Right after her pregnancy test and initial counseling, Lilly received an ultrasound that showed she was 21 weeks along. Lilly and Dustin were both very emotional about this news. The counselor took time to discuss how they were feeling and offered support. They left that day still uncertain about whether they would parent, but no longer only considering abortion. Other options had been opened to them and they wanted to explore them.

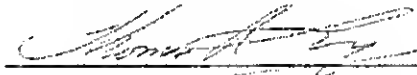

Through a few more ultrasounds and counseling sessions, first Dustin, then Lilly, agreed to choose life for their child. They have since learned they are having a girl and have told all their friends and family about the pregnancy. This young couple now has the support of their friends and family as well as the counselors here at Women's Care Center. Lilly has several coupons that she plans to spend in our store as soon as she decides what she needs for the baby.

V. Conclusion

The Caring Network Staff at Catholic Charities Diocese of Kalamazoo is warm and professional. The staff and administrators, all present for this Site Monitoring, collaborate to provide caring and compassionate services to clients seeking help during an unexpected pregnancy.

The Caring Network's trained staff assists women throughout their pregnancy. Women receive information on fetal development, nutrition and breast-feeding. The Caring Network Case Managers assist women in finding appropriate community resources to meet their needs and to help them have a healthy pregnancy and birth. Parenting and self-care classes are offered. An Adoption Counselor is available to discuss adoption options. The Caring Network maintains a lending library, encouraging parents to read to their children. The Caring Network also provides material needs for mother and babies; these resources include maternity clothing, baby clothing, furniture, toys, books, diapers and blankets.

The Caring Network has been at this location for three years and has served 280 clients in the last year.

The Caring Network of Catholic Charities Diocese of Kalamazoo shared the following client success story:

The Caring Network of Catholic Charities Diocese of Kalamazoo (CCDOK) had a young woman walk in first thing in the morning after having been released from jail the night before. She was legally an adult but had no home to go to and said she was not welcome at her mother's house or her father's house. She knew she was pregnant but didn't know how far along; she had already made a prenatal appointment. When this client came to the Caring Network, she was angry, on guard, and somewhat demanding. She was frustrated with her OB provider and had unconstructive ideas on how to get what she wanted. The Case Manager worked with her for four months before the baby's birth. The young woman thought she was due in June, but she learned she would have the baby in April. The Caring Network Case Manager would sometimes meet her client two weeks in a row. The client would often come in for an appointment then spend the rest of the afternoon sleeping on Caring Network's couch. The Case Manager worked with her on finding housing, anger management, setting goals, getting state assistance, and more. This client came to childbirth and parenting classes. The Case Manager was with the client when she gave birth (no family or friends came). This client continued to couch hop with her child but just recently was moved into CCDOK transitional housing. She now has a home for 18 months from move-in date, has another Case Manager that will help her with finding a job, a permanent apartment and life skills. She continues to come to Caring Network for classes (parental stress management especially), and continues to meet with the Caring Network Case Manager. She is open to suggestions on how to work with her baby and read a book aloud to her child in the Case Manager's office. This was a huge accomplishment as the Case Manager and she had many conversations/debates on the value of reading to a newborn. This client now lives for her child; she is working on making better decisions so her child doesn't suffer. She is trying to give her child a better life than she had.

When she walks into the CCDOK building, everyone greets her. She is told how good her baby looks (he does), how good she looks, and how happy she looks. She was angry at the world and has learned to temper herself a bit. She is still on guard, but does know there are other ways to live your life. This is truly a success story because this young woman has learned there are people who care about HER and her baby.

V. Conclusion

Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan began providing pregnancy and parenting support services through their Project Hope Program in October 2015. Project Hope – Detroit has offices in the Cabrini Clinic, located in the oldest district in Detroit known as Corktown. Project Hope provides free and confidential services; these services include pregnancy testing, case management, referral to community resources, pregnancy information, breastfeeding information, parenting education and support. Material needs for mother and baby are also provided.

Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan, Project Hope-Detroit shared the following success story:

Catholic Charities client, was 19 years of age, she had lived a very hard life of poverty, sexual abuse, foster care homes, and homelessness. When she became pregnant she was unsure if she could have her baby. She was unsure of her abilities as a mother and had doubts about being able to raise her child in a loving secure setting. She had no idea what to do or where to go. The client's friend, who had already received services at Project Hope-Detroit, advised her to seek help, guidance, education, and the caring support she so needed.

The client's pregnancy was considered high-risk. She visited Project Hope-Detroit many times. She received information on fetal development, pregnancy, healthy choices, community resource assistance, job exploration, breast-feeding support group contacts and goal setting. She was able to access many free support services offered through the Cabrini Clinic, such as: Healthy Walking Classes, Nutritional Cooking Classes, transportation (emergency bus passes) assistance to come to Project Hope-Detroit, and their free mental health counseling if she desired.

Thanks to all the support offered to her, she was able to deliver a beautiful baby whose surgery was immediate and successful although it required a one-month hospital stay. The baby was born to a happy, loving and secure environment allowing for mother to raise her child well prepared, safely and lovingly. The Project Hope client also developed a healthy and cooperative relationship with the baby's father to allow baby to be raised by two informed caring and involved people, safely and securely. They are planning a fall wedding!

The baby is thriving after successful surgery and recovery. Mother is looking forward to enrolling in the local Community College in the Spring of 2017. She plans to study International Banking. The client continues to receive supportive services, pantry items, child development and parenting information from Catholic Charities Project Hope – Detroit. She always attributes her success on the Project Hope – Detroit program.

V. Conclusion

Catholic Charities of West Michigan is located in downtown Grand Rapids. Catholic Charities converted a bowling alley into office spaces delivering a multitude of services to the community of Grand Rapids. Catholic Charities provides services for the pregnant woman and the father of the baby; these services are free, confidential and voluntary. Services include pregnancy testing, case management, pregnancy support and parenting information. Material needs for mother and baby is also provided.

The Pregnancy and Parenting Support Services Program has been providing services at this location for two years.

Catholic Charities of West Michigan shared the following client success story:

Catholic Charities of West Michigan received a referral for a 19-year-old girl who was seven weeks pregnant and needed some extra help during her pregnancy. A Catholic Charities of West Michigan Counselor met with her once and then received a text canceling their second appointment because she had decided to make an appointment for an abortion. The counselor reached out to her and asked if they could meet to discuss this decision before she moved forward with the procedure. The counselor did not get a response. The counselor reached out to her a second time and the client agreed to meet as long as the counselor would come right away. The counselor drove out to the client's home and spent two hours talking with the client. The client had many hurdles regarding education, finances, and substance use but at the core of her decision was being unsure who the father of the baby was and knowing that regardless of who it was, none of the men would be supportive fathers.

The counselor left the meeting unsure of whether the client would follow through with her abortion but still felt somewhat optimistic that the client seemed relieved to have talked through her feelings with someone.

Ultimately, the client chose to continue her pregnancy. She committed to meeting weekly with her counselor for her entire pregnancy. She graduated from high school, gained employment, she completely stopped using alcohol and marijuana; she obtained a car and a driver's license all before the baby was even born! She delivered a healthy baby girl in July of 2016 and continues to meet weekly with her counselor for ongoing support. She was right that the father of the baby has been unwilling to step up to his role as a father, but she now knows the love and support of many others who have gathered around her to help her parent this baby. She is a loving and attentive mother and her commitment to her daughter has set her life path in a new and positive trajectory. Catholic Charities of West Michigan related that is a counselor's greatest reward to witness the bonding that unfolds between a new mother and her baby, especially as the mother looks at her baby and sees the way the mother's voice makes her baby smile. It was truly a privilege for Catholic Charities of West Michigan to walk along side of this young woman on this journey.

V. Conclusion

Pregnancy Aid is located in an urban area. The counseling rooms are warm and welcoming. Pregnancy Aid of Detroit provides free, confidential pregnancy testing, emotional support, professional counseling, referrals to community resources as well as material needs for mothers and babies. Classes are provided on a variety of topics, which include fetal development, parenting, breastfeeding, nutrition, and healthy relationships. There were 242 program eligible clients served at Pregnancy Aid in the last fiscal year.

Pregnancy Aid shared the following client success story:

Pregnancy Aid includes in its mission statement the phrases "... offering positive alternatives to abortion ..." and "... education that promotes effective parenting and healthy lifestyles ..."

One Pregnancy Aid mom in particular, "Tia," made that a reality this year.

Tia came to Pregnancy Aid in June 2016, tentative about continuing with her pregnancy. She already had children, and had had one abortion. She knew the complicated reality of both choices. After hearing about the program details of Pregnancy Aid at her first visit, she decided to take part, saying, "she could really learn from this program."

Since her first visit, Tia attended 22 classes on healthy lifestyles and parenting. She received clothing, diapers, baby accessories, and furniture. More importantly, Tia has given great thought to her life goals. She says she's going to discuss the issue of marriage with her boyfriend because she has decided that she wants to be married or be abstinent. She also recently earned an associate's degree in business administration and is continuing on toward her bachelor's degree.

Tia has expressed openly how grateful she is to the Pregnancy Aid program and for the help she has received. She truly is using the Pregnancy Aid resources to make good choices and change her life. Tia's baby is expected in the Fall of 2016.

V. Conclusion

The Lennon Pregnancy Center provides free pregnancy testing, pregnancy counseling and emotional support. Classes offered at the Lennon Pregnancy Center are "Pregnancy, Childbirth and Newborn Parenting"; "Mom and Baby Care"; and "Parenting Your Growing Child." Referrals to community services include referrals for STD testing, medical insurance and the WIC program. The Lennon Pregnancy Center has been operation at this site for 12 years and has served 172 program eligible clients in the last year.

The Lennon Pregnancy Center shared a recent success story about a woman named "Marla." Marla came to the Lennon Center about five months ago. She was expecting her second child. She had recently moved to the United States from the Middle East with her eleven-year-old daughter. Marla knew that she would not be returning to the Middle East, as her husband had already taken a second wife in her absence. Marla was experiencing extreme anemia due to a blood issue and was extremely weak. She had already lost two children in previous pregnancies; one to miscarriage, one was stillborn.

Marla was extremely anxious about her medical situation and was in the midst of a conflict with her doctor about her treatment. Marla was alone, scared and unable to do much for herself and her daughter because she was so very tired all the time. Once when visiting The Lennon Center, she sat in the car for 20 minutes so she could get up enough energy to come inside.

When Marla attended pregnancy classes she began to smile and interact with the other clients. She was starved for the fellowship that the classes brought to her. She began to ask questions during class and often asked to stay after class to learn more about resources available to her and her daughter.

Marla delivered a healthy baby boy and is enjoying motherhood again. She learned to relax and concentrate on the joys of motherhood during classes at the Lennon Center. She interacts with the other mothers in the class, which gives her the confidence that she can handle this new transition in her life. She is embracing the class material and is always anxious to learn more. The Lennon Center saw a transformation in Marla's, a mother who has grown so much in spirit and positive outlook. Although she knows that she will be raising her children alone and in a foreign country, she is already talking about overcoming the new challenges of being a single mother. She is currently looking for a job and trying to find day care for her son. She has moved to a larger apartment and has renewed a once broken relationship with her brother. The Lennon Pregnancy Center has been influential in helping Marla to move her life in a new direction and is proud to be a part of Marla's renewed hope.
